It was very beautiful in Sundayland, and Sunday herself was more beautiful still. But then Jussike saw that Sunday had asked all the other days, whom Jussike had already met, to visit as well. Sunday praised all their good work and said that only those who had been good would enjoy themselves in Sundayland. But all the days said they would not have been nearly so good if Jussike had not helped each of them. Jussike felt fantastic. He started dancing with the others. He did not even think of asking Sunday to be with him all the time, because now all the days were his friends.